INTRODUCTION

This publication is the first issue of a series of similar publications that will be emanating from the offices of the Materials Acquisition Project. The publications will contain annotations of potentially useful educational materials from pre-K through grade 12 that have been acquired from Spanish- and Portuguese-speaking countries.# Every item appearing in each annotation is part of an entire collection housed in the project offices. Additional information on any item may be obtained by writing to the above address.

The Materials Acquisition Project (MAP) is funded through ESEA, Title VII and is directed under the auspices of the San Diego City Schools. The project's major emphases are the acquisition, annotation, and dissemination of information concerning educational materials of foreign publication* that may prove useful to Spanish and Portuguese bilingual programs. The information contained herein should prove of value to school personnel in the selection and ordering of multiple copies for classroom use.

The ordering instructions, which appear in coded form on each entry, suggest U.S. distributors from whom the materials may be purchased. These suggested distributors have delivered multiple copies within an average period of three weeks.
